(412)

- HR 4173: Financial Regulatory Overhaul - Motion to Recommit

June 30, 2010 - Bachus, R-Ala., motion to recommit the bill and instruct conferees to disagree to language in the conference report on the bill that would give the Government Accountability Office (GAO) authority to conduct a one-time audit of all the Federal Reserve's emergency lending activities during the financial crisis, as well as audits of future discount window lending and open market purchases of securities by the Fed. It would direct conferees to insist on House language to give the GAO expanded audit authority over the Federal Reserve, including the ability to monitor its most sensitive monetary policy deliberations. It also would instruct conferees to insist on Senate language to expand the exemption for commercial businesses using financial derivatives to hedge their business risks from the margin requirements in the bill. Motion rejected 198-229.

Vote: Yea

(413)

- HR 4173: Financial Regulatory Overhaul - Conference Report

June 30, 2010 - Adoption of the conference report on the bill that would provide new rules for the financial services industry. The measure would create new regulatory mechanisms to deal with the risks posed by very large financial firms, create a new federal agency to oversee consumer financial products and force banks and other financial institutions to hold more capital. It also would facilitate the orderly dissolution of failing financial firms that pose a threat to the economy, bring the derivatives market under federal regulation for the first time and give company shareholders and regulators greater say on executive pay packages. It would be offset by terminating the Trouble Asset

Relief Program and by requiring banks to direct additional money into the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's Deposit Insurance Fund. Adopted (thus sent to the Senate) 237-192: R 3-173; D 234-19; I 0-0.
